

Reading Together Day

We're celebrating Reading Together Day on Thursday 16 July and look forward to a full day of activity from over 15 collaborators, including us!

We aim to celebrate reading in all its diversity - recognising that children and adults find pleasure in reading a range of texts - in magazines, Top Trumps, recipes and travel guides as well as books - online and off! We want to help widen what counts as reading in schools and homes, and to build young people's confidence to say 'I am a reader!'

#Circle of Reading

Before the day

Ten top authors have made a fun Circle of Reading Video just for you! Find out their diverse reading choices and join the circle by using the hashtag #CircleofReading. Add a picture of your favourite reading that isn't book-bound and maybe include yourself in the snap too?! Can you guess which authors will be in the video?

Reading Treasure Hunt

On the day 17:30 – 18:10

We're going on a Reading Treasure Hunt! Reading involves books and so much more.

Take part at home or over a video-call with family and friends.

More details coming soon to our 'Supporting Readers at Home' page. We'd love to see your children's - and your families' treasure hordes. #ReadingTreasure

Summer Reading Adventure

After the day

Gearing up to enjoy the summer? Don't go without our Summer Reading Adventure! Our challenge is a map of reading conquests which children colour as they complete expeditions. More details coming soon to our 'Supporting Readers at Home' page. Great to share with your teacher. Share with us too, using the hashtag: #OUReadingAdventure.

Subscribe to our newsletter for the latest updates! July's edition is out Sunday 12th! Sign up now!
